The decision involves $85,000 of outstanding coupons, which were not funded under the Olcott settlement. It was the purpose of the holders of these coupons to tender the same to the treasury, and to compel the state to receive them, and to pay for them in gold; but this decision forces them to accept the Olcott settlement or nothing.

Mr. William Lamb, of Norfolk, in behalf of the bituminous coal interests, has requested Senator Voorhees to have the following alteration made in the text of the Wilson bill. It does not change the schedule, but will prevent any misconception of the intention of the law. Instead of "coal, bituminous," it reads "bituminous coal, and coal shifting in a bed of shale, or peats."

COUPONS NO GOOD.

Important Decision by the Virginia Supreme Court

Richmond, Va., March 15.—An opinion was handed down in the supreme court of Virginia today of great importance to the commonwealth and its creditors. The decision, in brief, is that the entire coupon contract is void. The case in point is that been a source of much interest to the foreign population and the courtroom was crowded all the week. Both the dead man and the murderer were well-to-do, having accumulated considerable money.

Puebla, Mex., March 15.—There is much excitement in the city of Orizaba over a fa-the commonwealth versus Cuffin, 1760s, the corporation court of Norfolk. This case and several others of the same kind were argued by Attorney General Scott and Hon. H. R. Pollard for the commonwealth, and the question decided by the court in appeals was whether the first time Messrs. Scott and Pollard in the Norfolk case. The decision of the court is

THE JOINT DEBATE.

Athens Expects to Furnish a Great Crowd to the Candidates.

CHEAP RATES ON THE RAILROADS

Excursions Will Be Run from the Surrounding Country—Friends of Both Men Are Making Arrangements.

Athens, Ga., March 15.—(Special.)—Tomorrow week Athens will be the scene of the second joint debate between the two gubernatorial candidates. Already there is a thrill of excitement in the air. Every one is talking about it and people from all sections of northeast Georgia are making preparations to be in the classic city on that day. This is the only joint debate between General Evans and Mr. Atkinson that will be held in this section of the state.

The new opera house holds a thousand people and is the largest hall in the city, it will probably be used for the debate. It is feared that the opera house will be unable to hold the big crowd that will be present. The railroads are all making special schedules for this date so that it will be convenient for people living in a radius of a hundred miles of Athens to come here on that day in time to hear the complete speeches and to return home the same afternoon. The fare will be reduced on nearly all roads to one fare for the round trip.

President A. I. Erwin, of the Evans Club, has appointed the following committee to assist in the arrangements for the occasion: Judge S. M. Herington, chairman; Mr. E. R. Hodgson, Mr. W. A. Jester, Mr. T. P. Vincent and Captain W. P. Welch. Some of the friends of Mr. Atkinson called a meeting and appointed the following gentlemen to represent him on the committee of arrangements: Mr. T. S. Mell, chairman; Mr. J. H. Dootson, Mr. A. B. Harper, Mr. M. G. Michel and Mr. W. C. Ash.

These two committees will probably get together tomorrow and complete all arrangements for the debate and the reception of the visitors.

Evans Notes.
Mrs. Judson McMurray and her sister, Miss Bertha Foutzahn, of Waynesboro, are visiting Mrs. James White, on Prince avenue.

Mrs. Mamie Lou Hinton left today for Danville, Va., where she will visit Miss Penn, a charming young lady, well known in Athens. If April Miss Hinton, accompanied by her mother, will take an extended tour through the east, stopping some weeks with Dr. John Hinton, in New York. Mrs. M. A. Jipson is preparing a novel entertainment for the benefit of the Marcha Washington Association to be given shortly after Easter.

Mrs. Hugh Jagan and Mrs. Vassar Woolley, of Atlanta, are visiting Mrs. J. C. Hitchens.

Miss Grace McClelland has returned to Athens and will organize her dancing classes in a few days.
Mr. T. R. H. Cobb, of Atlanta, is visiting his father in this city.

Baseball on the university campus is beginning to attract attention. The several classes have organized their teams and are at work every afternoon preparing for the class games which will begin the early part of next month.

The Thalia Dramatic Club, which will give its second annual performance in the new opera house on March 20th, has prepared a laudable comedy for presentation this time.

CORN STALK MOLASSES.

A Wayne County Farmer Says It Is Better Than Sorghum.

Waycross, Ga., March 15.—(Special.)—A farmer, who lives near here, tells an interesting story of his experiment in making corn stalk molasses. He says: "I planted two acres of rich land in corn about April 1st, last year, fertilizing it heavily with horse manure compost twice during its after growth, which, of course, made large and heavy stalks and ears, full of sweet juice, like the juice from the old china sorghum cane. I did not plant it with that intention, but after observing this I immediately pulled the corn stalks and stalks and shipped them in barrels to Boston, which alone doubly paid my expenses of planting, fertilizing and gathering. I then pulled the blades off, leaving them on the ground to be plowed under, and hastily proceeded to cut down the stalks, cut off the tops and haul to my furnace. I ground the stalks to pieces and boiled the juice in the usual way that we do sugar cane—about three hours with a moderately hot fire under the boiler, which held eighty gallons. It produced after the process was completed, nine gallons of the whitest, purest and most fragrant syrup that I have ever tasted. It was thick and full of sweetness and did not have the burning belonging to sorghum and sugar cane molasses. Granulated sugar could not be melted and made into clearer syrup than this. There are many advantages in grinding cornstalks over that of sugar cane. Using the old-fashioned roller mill, I filled it with five or six stalks at once, and a small pony pulled them through with no strain at all. The two acres made three barrels of the syrup of which I speak, and it was not necessary for me to ship it in order to dispose of it, as two barrels yielded a gallon, right here in this county, and I could have sold much more at the same price if I had made it. This year I have planted twenty acres in corn and I shall go through the same process of planting, manuring and gathering as I did last year, and there are many of my neighbors engaging in the production of corn, principally for the cornstalk molasses."

GONE TO THE JURY.

The Effort to Break Dye's Will a Matter of Great Interest.

Elberton, Ga., March 15.—(Special.)—The famous Dye will case has occupied the court two days, and at 11 o'clock tonight went to the jury. Dye was an old miser who died about a year ago leaving 2,600 acres of land and about $30,000 in cash. He was a miser and he made his money in a secreted in the log but he made his money. All of this property he left to his illegitimate negro children by a former slave. His next of kin contest the will and ask that it be set aside on the ground of undue influence being exercised on him. Messrs. Shannon, Worley, Howard and Tut have made strong speeches in the case. Great interest is manifested in the verdict.

ONLY TEN STOOD UP.

Colonel Ellington Does Not Seem to Make Converts Rapidly.

Jesup, Ga., March 15.—(Special.)—Hon. C. H. Ellington, president of the State Farmers' Alliance, addressed a small crowd at a courthouse here today. His speech was non-partisan and solely the interest of the order of which he is president. He urged the farmers to maintain the organization regardless of politics. Mr. Ellington stated that if the populists had every office in the gift of the people, from president to constable, the farmers could not get the alliance. They were demanding without the alliance, the members of the alliance subscribed for the alliance paper and keep informed on what the organization was doing. He concluded by saying that he would live by the principles of the alliance and would die by them, and asked those of the audience who would do likewise to rise. Ten stood up on their feet.

AN EVANS CLUB IN SAVANNAH.

Samuel B. Adams Is Elected President.

Savannah, Ga., March 15.—(Special.)—The first gun of the gubernatorial campaign in Chatham was heard tonight. A large number of General Evans's supporters met at the Catholic library hall and, after strong speeches by Mr. Pleasant A. Stovall and Mr. S. B. Adams, a set of resolutions strongly endorsing General Evans's candidacy, were unanimously adopted. Mr. Adams was given the unqualified endorsement of Chatham county in the convention.

A committee consisting of the following gentlemen, went to Atlanta tonight to meet representatives of the Savannah-Greenville Tariff Association with reference to the advances in fire insurance rates of 25 cents per 100 made after the destruction of fire which consumed the Savannah-Greenville Company and M. Gerst's building and stock: Messrs. W. C. Cann, Edward Karow, D. G. Purse, Herman Myers, W. M. Dixon, William Bohan, John R. Young, A. Vetsburg and Samuel Meinhard. A conference will be held there tomorrow to see if the differences between the association and the people here cannot be adjusted. Inquiries will be made as to what specific complaints are made against the firm, and if the association, and if valid, steps will probably be taken to remedy them.

JUDGE LEA IS DEAD.

Governor Turney Appoints A. D. Bright to Succeed Him.

Nashville, Tenn., March 15.—(Special.)—Judge B. J. Lea, of the state supreme court, at Jonesboro, died at his residence here, after a long illness. As the term of the supreme court here is nearing its close, Judge Lea's death made immediate action necessary. Governor Turney, therefore, tonight appointed A. D. Bright, of Brownsville, Judge Lea's successor. Judge Bright will leave here in the morning to attend the funeral of the late Chief Justice B. J. Lea at Brownsville.

WRECK AT BOYCE'S.

Two Freight Trains Hit and Block the Track.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 15.—(Special.)—Boyce station, five miles north of this city, was the scene last night of a serious wreck caused by the engineer of a south-bound freight on the Cincinnati Southern road mistaking the train for a passenger train, and taking the side track as instructed, he waited on the main line. Another freight, bound north, from Chattanooga, and with oranges came along. A head-on collision was the result, and the passenger train was wrecked. The train was wrecked and the oranges all lost. The men escaped serious injury from the train, but before they came together. The tracks have now been cleared and after some delay, trains are now running on time. The loss to the railroad company has not yet been estimated, but will run up into the thousands.

Insurance Statements.

Raleigh, N. C., March 15.—(Special.)—The statement of insurance companies doing business in North Carolina. It shows that forty-five life insurance companies received $1,075,238 in premiums and that sixty-six fire insurance companies received $886,606 in premiums and paid $107,117 in losses.

NEW POSTMASTER.

Mr. Price Has Been Confirmed and Is Getting More Congratulations.

HONORS TO THE GOOD ST. PATRICK

The Banquet Will Be Given Sunday Night. Many Toasts on the Programme. Irish Societies Will Unite.

Macon, Ga., March 15.—(Special.)—A democratic man as postmaster at Macon. The matter has been long delayed, but it has reached a culmination at last.

Today about 2 o'clock ex-Mayor Daisy Price received a telegram which read as follows:

Washington, D. C., March 15.—You were confirmed by the senate as postmaster at Macon late yesterday afternoon.

"A. H. COLQUITT."
"Uncle Alfred" was the first person to wire Mr. Price the interesting information.

The news soon got in circulation throughout the city, and the explosion of friends commenced to flood him with congratulations. He has been the center of a large circle of enthusiastic citizens all the afternoon. The people are rejoicing in the score with Macon's popular ex-mayor. There is no man in this city who has more personal friends than Mr. Price, and the entire community knows that he will make a splendid postmaster. He will be prompt, efficient and sat "actory in the discharge of his duties. Mr. Price will proceed at once to make his bond and will take office at the earliest possible date. It will probably be April 1st before he can be sworn in. The preliminaries to his taking office, Postmaster Locke's term expired January 20th last.

St. Patrick's Programme.

The Hibernian and Emmet Clubs, of Macon, intend to celebrate St. Patrick's day in a most elaborate and dignified manner.

These two organizations have a large and growing membership and they intend to make the celebration of this year of Ireland's patron saint a memorable event. The chairman of the committee of arrangements for the celebration is Hon. J. P. Duffy, of the Emmet Club. Hon. John Murphy, of the Hibernian Club, is secretary. They have agreed upon the following programme: St. Patrick's day will be duly celebrated at St. Joseph's church by high mass at 8:30 o'clock a. m. The Hibernians and the Emmet Club will attend a holy. In the evening, at St. Joseph's church, at 7:30 o'clock a panegyric on St. Patrick, by Father Irishman, director of St. Stanislaus college, Indianapolis, will be given. The two orders are all active business men and could not well leave their business on Saturday. It has been determined to give the banquet on Sunday evening, at which 200 covers will be set at the Emmet hall by Ullman & Williams. After the feast the following programme will be rendered:

ANOTHER BOMB IN PARIS.

One Thrown Inside the Door of a Church.

Paris, March 15.—At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon a bomb exploded just inside the main door of the Church of the Madeleine. One person, supposed to be the author of the explosion, was killed and several others were wounded. The explosion, which was evidently premature, mutilated in a horrible manner the man who was carrying the bomb. It is generally believed that it was the intention of the miscreant to throw the bomb into the midst of the worshippers who were gathered for the afternoon service. Four persons have been taken into custody on suspicion of being accessories of the man who was killed.

The police had the greatest difficulty in getting the persons who had been taken into custody and gathered making several attempts to seize the prisoners and lynch them. The Madeleine, or Church of St. Mary Magdalene, one of the oldest places of worship in Paris, has a large congregation and is especially well attended during the Lenten season. The afternoon or vespers services were about to begin and worshippers were rapidly filling the edifice when the explosion occurred.

Abbe Bourse, who is attached to the Church of the Madeleine, was standing near the inner doors, when the explosion occurred. His version of the affair is this: The man carrying the bomb had passed through the main entrance with the stream of worshippers and was about to pass the swinging doors. He had his hands in his pockets. One of the doors, released by a person passing through, rebounded violently and struck the man on the arm. The bomb, which he was carrying, fell upon the floor. Then came the explosion, which hurled persons near by in all directions. The man carrying the bomb was killed. The explosion was so violent that the body of the man who carried the bomb, was found lying just outside the door. The body had been torn to shreds, and his entrails were protruding from a great hole in his abdomen, while the walls, the floor and the ceiling of the church were strewed with blood and fragments of the man's flesh.

On an examination today, a number of men and boys, who were taken into custody, were found embedded in the flesh and in the cavity in the abdomen. A revolver was discovered in the hands of the man who was killed and had five articles in his pocket. Upon the body was found a pocketbook which contained a number of clippings from newspapers together with photographs of the anarchists, Ravachol, Valliant and Leprie.

The man is now believed to be Desire Joseph Fournier, a Frenchman, formerly known to the police of Brussels and Liege. He was an admirer of Ravachol and Valliant and is said to have been in communication with the violent anarchists who fled to London and Switzerland.

What his intentions towards the church and its congregation were, can only be conjectured.

RAIDED THE TENDERLOINS.

New York, March 15.—Anthony Comstock, of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, and six of his men made a sudden descent upon the famous Tenderloin Club, 114 West second street, which has as members some of the best known people of New York. The club is a clubhouse, and is known to the police of Brussels and Liege. He was an admirer of Ravachol and Valliant and is said to have been in communication with the violent anarchists who fled to London and Switzerland.

The door attendant, a boy, who was the only person in the house at the time, was placed under arrest and while Mr. Comstock and his men were in the club, the six men proceeded to make the big double parlor of the club on the first floor look as though a tornado had blown through it. The walls were stripped of all the pictures, the frames of many were smashed and the debris was piled on the floor and carried away. The first attack was made on a canvas known as the "Bado." This picture, which was a reproduction of a picture of a man, was carried away. A continuous one, running along the walls of the two parlors, and was considered one of the choicest pieces in the club's collection. The pictures of the club were carried away. A number of photographs, including that of a colored lady, were also seized.

The picture of the colored boy represented him in knee trousers with legs bare below the knee. Mr. Comstock said this picture was obscene and that it was the duty of the club members to carry it off. The pictures were carried away. A continuous one, running along the walls of the two parlors, and was considered one of the choicest pieces in the club's collection. A Revolution In Eating has been brought about by the introduction of COTTLENE, the new vegetable shortening.

The discovery of this product, and the demonstration of its remarkable qualities, has attracted the widest interest. Hitherto the common shortening has been lard, or indifferent butter. Every one has probably suffered occasional discomfort from lard-cooked food; while it is well known that thousands are obliged to abstain entirely from everything of that kind. To such people, COTTLENE is of peculiar value, widening as it does, the range of what may be eaten and enjoyed. COTTLENE is a cooking marvel. It combines with the food—imparts to it a tempting color, a delicate flavor, and an appetizing crispness. No trace of greasiness remains to offend the taste, or disturb the digestion.

COTTLENE is worthy of the careful notice of all those who value good food, of itself or for its hygienic properties.

that she was "sought in vain" by the "super-tendents" as the article states is possible true. The large handsome mansion near the courthouse and jail where the federal prisoners were kept, was nightly the resort of a crowd of young and old men fascinated beyond their judgment and wills.

Among the most noted of these was the dashing General Mark Cary, who even dared to pay his attentions to public assemblies whereas others were shy of the questionable honor except in the obscurity of his own home. When the proud old Cary fell into the hands of the enemy Mrs. Cary, a northern woman of birth, and therefore a Unionist, what in her husband would have been unendurable, was her fortune with the conqueror and went away in his train, accompanied by her two girls, one the daughter of the grocer—there was much gossip and not a little scandal. As Mr. Constitution correspondent svers, they did travel "with an equipage and retinue of oriental splendor," albeit each detail was spolia and penia, and even the silver plate from which they ate was taken from burning homesteads and helpless victims.

It is also true that congress passed a bill to reimburse them for devotion (?) to the union, not, however, for $20,000, but for a comparatively paltry sum of $15,000, with which they continued to live sumptuously at the Astor house, in New York city.

Always of an eccentric and undisciplined nature, she threw propriety to the winds and followed him to Europe. He escaped her and returned to New York, and here the culmination of her folly took place. She shot him, though ~~not~~ fatally, as he went up the steps of his Fifth avenue home, and a divorce was the consequence. Its details, conducted in their private parlors, were very peculiar as related to me by an eye witness.

After some years of unlicensed liberty in the great capitals of Europe, in company with the notorious Fanny Blachford and Lord Pearl (the former, as all the world knows, being the author of the jewel scandal at St. Petersburg, and not Maria Boozer) sil again settled into comparative respectability by a bona fide marriage with the Count de Petales (not "Perele"), at that time member of the French legation in London. This man was of undoubted social position, the scion of a noble house of Geneva, where he had married several years previous a daughter of the so-called steamship king, Ben Holliday of California! A friend of mine was present at this first wedding, and it was shewho informed Mr. Holliday of the misalliance of his son-in-law, whom, with his little son, the millionaire was supporting by a handsome income. His rage knew no bounds, as well as his indignation, and he rose from the breakfast table, where the news had been broken, to send for his grandchild and countermand his checks. Count de Portales soon realized his mistake in thus degrading his name and position, and to hide his mortification solicited and obtained a place in the Japanese embassy. Thither they went now some twenty years ago and now one knows the true story of the Mikado scandal. That the wily adventures did not lose her head, however, is certain, as she wrote, some time in the seventies, a characteristic letter to some gaudy lover in South Carolina, which was published in a Columbia paper. In this she gave glimpses of her wild life and told how the death of her mother and sister had been the turning point in her restless career; that she was living in hope of some day returning to behold the quiet scenes of her youth amid the old oaks of the beautiful city she loved. Who can say that in the most sin-seared heart some longing for better things does not lie, and that Marie Booser, Countess de Portales, may not yet become a respectable woman. C. D. M.

The Dukes Saved Him.
From The Million.

There is a story of a railway traveler who had the misfortune to find himself alone in a compartment with a lunatic, the train not being timed to stop for a couple of hours, and no means existing for communication with the guard. The lunatic appeared to be a sensible man enough when the train started, but soon betrayed his mental aberration by complaining that the carriage was "too heavy," and attempting to lighten it by casting all the loose

Having cleared the compartment he announced to his alarmed companion that he must follow his baggage. A struggle with a man endowed with maniacal strength would have been a hopeless affair, so the proposed victim temporized. He asked to be allowed to say a prayer, to which the lunatic readily agreed.

"I wish to pray for others besides myself," said the traveler. "I cannot omit the royal family."

Permission gained, the traveler prayed aloud for every royal personage he could think of, however remotely connected with the British dynasty; but time was wasting, and even the "Almanach de Gênes" was

"You really must go out now," said the madman, as the breathless speaker paused with a last despairing effort to recall another name; "you have prayed for everyone of them."

"But we have forgotten the house of peers," cried the victim, with fresh hope; "you cannot insist on leaving them out altogether. At least, let me pray for the dukes."

"Only for the dukes, then," said the madman, reluctantly.

But this delay saved the traveler, for before this final bead roll was exhausted the train had reached a station and he could

Not the Best.

The adage concerning the folly of disputing about questions of personal taste is well supported by an anecdote related by "Many T. A. Dodge. He says:

"Many years ago, in Richmond, while I was standing with a friend at his doorway, while he gave me instructions to an old colored servant, there happened to pass one of our beauties of the city. We both took off our hats, courtesy in our attitudes, admiration in our hearts.

" 'Isn't she a beauty?' said I.

" 'Isn't she a beauty?' he echoed.

" 'Just isn't she, Uncle Ned?' he added.

"Miss Ellen's a mighty fine leddy," responded Uncle Ned in a deferential but somewhat hesitating tone.

"Why, what do you mean, Uncle Ned?" insisted my friend, rather nettled and curious withal at the old dorky's manner.

"Well, Mars' Tom," said the old man, "to tell de hoves' truf, we niggers doan tink de white leddies is so handsome as de brack ones."

The Meeting of the Board.

So far as was reported yesterday the above representatives of the committees made during the day. All of the committees were not heard from and the work of canvassing was cut into by the regular meeting of the board yesterday afternoon.

That meeting was of some importance. At it work was accomplished which will mean much to the exposition.

Almost every member of the board was present. They came early and before the hour fixed for the meeting arrived discussed the exposition outlook. All were enthusiastic. The work of the past few days had demonstrated clearly that the people of Atlanta appreciated their labors in behalf of the exposition and this inspired all to put forth their very best efforts.

Features of the Meeting.

One of the features of the meeting was the splendid showing made by the fire department boys through their chief.

Another was the presence of Mr. I. S. Mitchell as the representative of the Retail Grocers' Association, and also his assurance that the Retail Grocers' Association would as an association take up the question of subscribing to the exposition stock.

A third feature, and a most important one, was an examination into the lists of subscribers submitted by Mr. Alex Smith, in which a comparison was made showing of a number of special lines of business how many in each line had subscribed.

Mr. Mitchell was present when the meeting was called to order. President Hemphill stated that he was there to represent a committee appointed at a meeting of representative working men and asked him to state the purpose of that committee.

This Mr. Mitchell did in a characteristic, straightforward talk. He told of the meeting, at which many workmen were present, and in which they expressed their hearty confidence in the exposition. He stated that they had discussed ways and means, and that they believed ways and means could be made—either by the acceptance of a part of their wages in tickets or some such way—by which the workmen employed by the exposition company could aid in the work. They asked, moreover, that Atlanta labor be given preference in all the work of the exposition.

Mr. Neal then submitted a resolution to this effect:

"Resolved, That we highly appreciate the interest taken in the exposition by the laboring men of the city, as manifested through their chairman, Mr. I. S. Mitchell, and that the request be referred to the proper committee, that in the meantime we assure them that Atlanta labor shall at all times be given preference."

At Mr. Spaulding's suggestion Mr. Mitchell was taken, as president, of the Retail Grocers' Association, to take charge of the work of securing subscriptions to the stock from the association or from its individual members. This he said he would gladly do, and he knew the grocers would do their part.

The chief and his boys.

"There is a gentleman here from whom we would all, I am sure, like to hear," said Mr. Clark Howell. "I think he has something to tell us. I mean Chief Joyner."

The chief was called on.

Came as the representative of the men in the fire department," said Chief Joyner. "They are men who love their city, and whose desire to aid the exposition is second to that of no class of citizens. They are for Atlanta all over. I have here a list containing the names of every man in the department, even the two colored men; and all, without exception, are ready to contribute to the exposition. The men $5 each. The total including the $100 from myself already reported, is $510."

The chief was very heartily applauded. As he started to go Captain English called him back. "Hold on, Cap," said he. "You and the rest of the red wagon have a way of getting on ahead, but I want to say right here that there is another department that has this matter in hand and is at work on it. I mean the police department."

The police department was given a round of applause and the board tendered a vote of thanks to Chief Joyner and his men for their contribution, which is taken as a subscription to the exposition.

The subscribers on the fire department list are as follows:

GENERALLY LOWER.

Under the Leadership of General Electric
Stocks Close Under Yesterday.

AND WHEAT WAS ALSO HAMMERED

Cotton Closed at the High Point of the Day, with the Price Firm, but Business Was Light.

NEW YORK, March 15.—It was a rather dull day at the stock exchange. At the opening the market was weakened by lower cables from London for American securities. The foreigners sold about as much as they bought yesterday, because they feared that the Bland seigniorage bill would pass the senate. At least, this was the reason assigned by some of the foreign houses here. When the arbitrage houses ceased selling, the market drifted into dullness. Later on there was some good buying of Chicago Gas, Sugar, Missouri Pacific and Whisky, and a rise of 1/4 to 1/2 per cent ensued. Another dull spell followed this rise and local operators began to discuss the chances of the Bland bill receiving the president's signature. The president's veto it. A small contingent, however, claims that the measure will be signed. The market was then selling lower to become a law and was selling on the theory that in this event it would start further European liquidations. Still they made very little progress in their efforts to depress the list and after the vote by the senate had been announced the market first ran off and then rallied, closing irregular, but in the main firm. The statement of the New York Central for the March quarter was more favorable than expected. The stock rose to 98 1/2, and closed at 99 1/2, per cent declared today. Net changes show losses of 1/4 to 1/2 per cent in the general list, General Electric leading. The stock was noticeably weak throughout and sold at 40 1/2 at one time. No special reason was given for the decline. Sugar rose 1/4, Chicago Gas and Western Union 1/4, and Corn 1/2, for the day.

Railway and miscellaneous bonds were strong.

Sales of listed stocks, 123,000 shares; unlisted, 18,000.

Treasury balances: Coin, $100,157,000; currency, $6,899,000.

Money on call easy at 1 per cent; last loan 1/2, and closing offered at 2 1/2; prime mercantile paper, 4 per cent.

Bar silver, 50 1/2.

Sterling exchange is firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.87 1/2 to $4.87 3/4 for sixty days, and $4.87 1/2 to $4.87 3/4 for ninety days; posted rates, $4.88 to $4.89; commercial bills, $4.86 1/2 to $4.87 1/2 for sixty days, and $4.88 1/2 to $4.89 1/2 for ninety days.

Government bonds steady.

State bonds dull.

Railroad bonds firm.

Silver at the board neglected.

The following are the closing quotations of future contracts for the month of March:

	March	April
--	-------	-------	--

Wasn't it a time of proud anticipation, the same of youthful ambition? The young men and women of today have the same feeling. Do not tell them that it is a matter of indifference, but encourage them by something that is appropriate and artistic, which will serve as a memento worth keeping. Steel Plate Engraving, which we do at our establishment, 47 Whitehall street, fully meets the needs of commemorative day.

HELD BY HER PARENTS

Mr. Paul V. Carlton is Now a Widower
Pro Tem.

HOPES TO GET HIS WIFE TODAY

They Were Married by S. Y. Jameson on Sunday—Another West End Wedding.

It has often been sung and warbled by the poets, no matter what their standing or style, that in the springtime the turning of a young man's fancy is in the direction of Cupid and the altar of Hymen. In truth, it has been customary for many years to hear from the poets on this line, and receive the same happy thought clothed in different language, though written more times than often in the same vein and traversed by the same gentle sentiment. Thus it was with a young couple who were wont for many months to seek the same church and attend the same Sunday school. Their acquaintance grew to friendship, their friendship into admiration and respect, and these last quickened into love. The natural outcome of all this was marriage—and marriage was the result; but the young man who made his fair sweet-heart his happy young wife, is now a widower pro tem, and back of all this is the story of this domestic comedy.

Mr. Paul V. Carlton is the young gentleman in this affair du coeur, and the young lady is Miss Lora Fuller, who was, but who is now Mrs. Paul V. Carlton. Mr. Paul Carlton is a bright young fellow, the son of Mr. J. C. Carlton, and a young man who is esteemed most highly by those who know him as a slightly, Mrs. Lora Fuller-Carlton, is the daughter of most charming parents and has a wide circle of admiring friends. It so happened that Mr. Carlton and Miss Fuller attended the same church—the Baptist church in West End. There was service at the church every Sunday and as regularly as there were services, Mr. Carlton would attend, and did not often fail to see Miss Fuller. That the young couple were attached to each other in a manner that could be hardly designed as platonic friendship, soon became noticeable, and the friends of both the young people were not at all surprised when they learned that the two had married.

But the friends were not prepared for what followed. The wedding occurred at the home of Mr. J. C. Carlton, the father of the bridegroom, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. S. Y. Jameson. The ceremony over, the couple decided to make a call on the parents of the bride and inform them of the status of affairs. The result was not gratifying, to say the least, and when Mr. Carlton left it was without his bride. Mrs. Fuller, the young lady's mother was taken with hysterics at once and the father decided that he didn't want his daughter to be married and told her that she had best stay with her mother for a few days at least, thus using persuasion to gain his purpose. The marriage occurred last Sunday night, and last night Mr. Carlton was still wifeless. Mrs. Carlton wants to go to her husband, and it is very probable that the parents will relent and allow her to take her departure with the man of her choice today. In the meantime the couple have the sympathies of all their friends and their best wishes for a happy and immediate reunion.

Another West End Gentleman Marries.
Another wedding that was somewhat of a surprise to the friends of all parties was that of Mr. Ira G. Jones and Miss Hornsby, of Newman. Mr. Jones lives in West End and is a gentleman of many sterling qualities. Miss Hornsby is a most charming and accomplished young lady and comes of excellent family. The wedding occurred at the home of Mrs. Wynne on Smith street, where Miss Hornsby has been stopping. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Jameson, of the West End Baptist church.

MR. PATRICK SULLIVAN DEAD.

One of Atlanta's Well-Known Citizens Passes Away.
Mr. Patrick Sullivan, one of the best known citizens of Atlanta, and one who had been a resident of this city for many years, died at Providence Infirmary at an early hour yesterday morning. The news of his death will be read with profound sorrow all over the city. Mr. Sullivan, for quite a long time, had been in the employ of Venable Bros., at which place he was the foreman of the company and rendered efficient service to his employers in that capacity. The funeral will occur this morning from the Church of the Immaculate Conception and the interment will be at Westview cemetery.

An Appeal for Assistance.
The man who is charitable to himself will listen to the appeal for assistance made by his stomach. Of this kind is the case of a man who is suffering from the shape of diverse dyspeptic ailments and uneasy sensations in the regions of the gland that secretes his dear sir, or madam—as the case may be—his stomach. Hasten to use if you are troubled with heartburn, wind in the stomach, or note that your skin or the whites of your eyes are taking a yellow hue.

DEAR OLD GRANDMOTHERS.

Healthy, Hearty, Happy, Using Paine's Celery Compound.

How to Make the Last Miles as Smooth as Possible.

The Illness of the Aged Mainly Comes Under the Head of Weakness.

For ages the world has been piling up its indebtedness to the sweet, sunny, saintly grandmothers, who, when mothers' hands have been full and strength overtaken, have surrounded the young lives under the home roof with the atmosphere of peace and usefulness. Care for them, then. Give them the best of care and love and thought. Do not let the old folks any longer think they are retired and must sit clear back out of sight from the world, feeling that they have no relation to it. Give them your arm when the streets are slippery. Carefully avoid saying anything that implies that they are in the way. Remember that they, more than younger people, need something to stir and clear their slow blood and give strength and tone to their nerves and more feeble powers of digestion and assimilation. The illness of the aged mainly comes under the head of weakness, but none are too old to be helped by Paine's celery compound.

It brings new material for building up without nerve tissues. The many forms that nervous weakness takes all disappear when once the veins are supplied with pure, more abundant, more vigorous blood. Paine's celery compound cures dyspepsia, sleeplessness, headache, and neuria. It cleanses the blood of every trace of poisonous humors and encourages a rapid addition of the red corpuscles upon which the vigor of the entire body depends.

White cheeks, white lips, badly nourished frames indicate thin, poor blood. Paine's celery compound restores a rich, pure current to the blood and a healthy action to the nervous system. To those who cannot sleep because of nervous exhaustion, Paine's celery compound will show itself the one thing needed. Men and women of every age who have to struggle daily to meet the needs of too great nervous expenditures should take this great remedy. Its invigorating, soothing action begins at once at the nerve centers which manufacture the nervous force for every muscle and organ of the body.

Not only has too little attention been paid to the aged, but the prevention of nervous diseases in children and young adults has been neglected. Paine's celery compound is genuine food for the tired and used-up nerves. It cures a tendency to headaches and all those diseases which are due to a disordered nervous system. Try it; you will be convinced.

DEATH OF MRS. BUSSEY.

Her Funeral Will Occur This Morning from Payne Memorial.

Mrs. Fannie G. Bussey died at the residence of her sister, Mrs. John J. Baker, on Hemphill avenue, yesterday morning. She breathed her last at 8 o'clock after an illness of several days. She had many friends in the community and was highly esteemed. The funeral will occur this morning at 10 o'clock from Payne Memorial church, of which she was a loyal and consistent member.
